

The Office of Community Participation of Józsefváros Municipality, in cooperation with the Józsefváros Közösségiért Nonprofit Ltd., invites applications for the organization of community events and programs that strengthen and support ties among local communities. Applications are invited until midnight on Thursday March 16, 2023.

Józsefváros is a diverse district, where dense development limits the living space of many neighborhoods to courtyards, narrow spaces and street fronts. It's not easy to change the way spaces are distributed, but it is possible to change the way people live there!

Our Neighborhood Fest competition aims to give communities in the district the opportunity to organize events where they can get to know each other and get to know others.

A cookout, music, a walk around town, a reading group? How would you show yourselves, how would you bring your neighbors closer together?

Got a question? Contact the Office of Community Participation staff in person every week on Mondays from 12 noon to 2 pm at their office at 63-67 Baross Street, or by email at reszvetel@jozsefvaros.hu.

The rights of the Data Subject and their enforcement

1. The Data Subject shall have the right to be informed by the Data Controller of the facts relating to the processing prior to the start of the processing.

2. The Data Subject shall have the right to obtain from the Data Controller, at the Data Controller's request, the provision of his or her personal data and information relating to the processing thereof.

3. The Data Subject has the right to request the Controller to correct or supplement his or her personal data, if the legal conditions for doing so exist.

4. The Data Subject shall have the right to obtain the restriction of the processing of his or her personal data by the Controller, where the legal conditions for such restriction exist, if

- contests the accuracy of his or her personal data, in which case the restriction shall apply for the period of time necessary to allow the Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- the processing is unlawful and the Data Subject opposes the erasure of the data and requests instead the restriction of their use;
- the Controller no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of processing, but the Data Subject requires them for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

5. The Data Subject shall have the right to receive the personal data concerning him or her which he or she has provided to the Controller in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format and the right to transmit such data to another controller without hindrance from the Controller to whom the personal data have been provided, if

(a) the processing is based on the data subject's consent or on a contract; and

(b) the processing is carried out by automated means.

The Data Subject may exercise the right to data portability where both conditions are met.

6. In such a case, the Controller may no longer process the personal data unless it can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the Data Subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

7. The Data Subject has the right to have his or her personal data erased by the Data Controller upon request, provided that the legal conditions for such erasure are met.

8. The data subject may initiate an investigation by the data protection authority to examine the lawfulness of the controller's action if the controller restricts the exercise of the data subject's listed rights or rejects his or her request to exercise those rights.

The National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information is entitled to conduct the procedure.
