k) in the case of a dog holding a pet passport, the passport number, the date of issue, the name the name and official stamp number of the veterinary practitioner who issued it,
l) details regarding the fact and date of the dog’s classification as dangerous,
m) in the case of a dog registered with a recognised breeding organisation, a copy of the certificate of origin.

4. Legal Basis for Data Processing

The legal basis for data processing, in accordance with Article 6(1)(c) of the GDPR, is the fulfilment of the statutory obligation set out in Sections 42/B(2) and (5) of the Animal Protection Act, the maintenance of a register of dogs that may be identified by a transponder, for the purposes of protecting the rights, personal safety and property of the dog’s keeper and other persons, as well as for the performance of dog control duties. The owner and keeper of the dog are obliged to provide the Data Controller with the data specified in point 3 at the time of the dog census.

5. The Source of the Personal Data Processed, and the Scope of Data Provided to the Office Not by the Data Subject

The source of the personal data processed is the data subject.

6. The Recipients of the Personal Data, or Categories of Recipients, and the Data Processor

In accordance with Section 42/B(3) of the Animal Protection Act, the Data Controller shall, on the basis of the dog census, compare the data set out in point 3 with the data recorded in the dog register and, in the event of any discrepancy, shall provide the data to the operator of the dog register, the National Food Chain Safety Office. No data processor is involved in the data processing.

7. Retention Period for Personal Data

The Data Controller shall retain the data forms received and the personal data of the data subjects contained therein in accordance with Government Decree No. 335/2005. (XII.29.) on the general requirements for document management by bodies performing public tasks, and Decree No. 78/2012. (XII.28.) of the Ministry of Interior on the issuance of a standardised filing plan for municipality offices.

8. Transfer of Data to a Third Country – Automated Decision-Making and Profiling

No personal data is transferred to a third country in the course of data processing, nor is any automated decision-making or profiling carried out during data processing.

9. The Data Subject's Rights in Relation to Data Processing

9.1. Time Limit

The Office shall comply with a request by the data subject to exercise their rights within a maximum of one month from the date of receipt of the request. The day of receipt of the request is not included in the time limit.

If necessary, taking into account the complexity of the request and the number of requests, the Office may extend this time limit by a further two months. The Office shall inform the data subject of any extension of the time limit within one month of receiving the request, stating the reasons for the delay.

9.2. Data Subjects' Rights in Relation to Data Processing

9.2.1. The Right to Access

The data subject is entitled to request information from the Office, via the contact details provided in point 1, as to whether their personal data are being processed; and if such processing is taking place, they are entitled to know the following details:

a. which of their personal data is being processed;
b. on what legal basis;
c. for what purpose;
d. for how long; and furthermore,

- to whom, when, on what legal basis, and in respect of which personal data the Office has granted access or to whom it has disclosed their personal data;

- from what source their personal data originates.

The Office shall provide the data subject with a copy of the personal data being processed free of charge upon the first request; thereafter, it may charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs.

In order to ensure compliance with data security requirements and to protect the data subject's rights, the Office is obliged to verify that the identity of the data subject matches that of the person seeking to exercise their right of access; to this end, the provision of information, access to the data and the issue of copies thereof are all subject to the identification of the data subject.

9.2.2. The Right to Rectification

The data subject may request, via the contact details provided in point 1, that the Office amend any of their personal data. If the data subject can credibly demonstrate the accuracy of the corrected data, the Office shall comply with the request within one month at the latest and shall notify the data subject of this via the contact details provided by the data subject.

9.2.3. The Right to Restriction of Processing

The data subject may request, via the contact details provided in point 1, that the Office restrict the processing of their personal data (by clearly marking the restricted nature of the processing and ensuring that the data is processed separately from other data) if − they contest the accuracy of their personal data (in which case the Office shall restrict data processing for the period required to verify the accuracy of the personal data);

−the processing is unlawful, and the data subject objects to the erasure of the data and requests, instead, that its use be restricted;

−the Data Controller no longer requires the personal data for the purposes of processing, but the data subject requires it for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or

−the data subject has objected to the processing (in which case the restriction applies for as long as it has not been established whether the Data Controller’s legitimate grounds override those of the data subject).

9.2.4. The Right to Object

The data subject may, at any time, object to the processing of personal data on grounds relating to their particular situation by contacting the Office via the contact details provided in point 1, if they consider that the Office is not processing their personal data appropriately in relation to the purpose set out in this privacy notice. In such a case, the Office must demonstrate that the processing of the personal data is justified by compelling legitimate grounds which override the data subject’s interests, rights and freedoms, or which relate to the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

9.2.5. The Right to Erasure

In relation to the data processing described in this notice, the data subject may exercise their right to erasure without restriction.

10. Right to Seek Redress

If the data subject considers that the Office has breached the applicable data protection legislation in the processing of their personal data, they may lodge a complaint with the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information (address: 1055 Budapest, Falk Miksa utca 9-11., postal address: 1363 Budapest, PO Box 9, email: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu, website: www.naih.hu), or may apply to the court to protect their data, in which case the court will deal with the matter as a matter of urgency. In this case, you are free to decide whether to lodge your claim with the court having jurisdiction over your place of residence (permanent address) or your place of stay (temporary address), or with the court having jurisdiction over the seat of the Office. You can find the court with jurisdiction based on your place of residence or current address at http://birosag.hu/ugyfelkapcsolati-portal/birosag-kereso. The Budapest Metropolitan Court has jurisdiction over the case based on the seat of the Office.
